UPDATE ON COVID-19

As the global pandemic related to the Coronavirus disease 2019 ("COVID-19") continues, Crown has implemented a plan to protect the health and safety of its stakeholders. The Company has implemented alternative working arrangements for all consultants to work from home and placed its mineral properties on care and maintenance.

The Company's operational activities are particularly affected due to the inability of staff to travel because of the non-essential travel restrictions. Furthermore, suppliers of services to the Company are also similarly affected and this may lead to delays in the provision of data and services to the Company's operational efforts.

The Company will continue to monitor the COVID-19 related situation and will only fully resume regular activities when there are clear indications that its consultants are able to return to work in a safe environment and in accordance with the advice and requirements provided by all the regulatory authorities from a local to national level.

CORPORATE OVERVIEW AND OUTLOOK

The shares of the Company are listed on the TSX Venture Exchange and trade under the symbol CWM. Crown is a Canadian-based junior mining and exploration company incorporated under the Canada Business Corporations Act which currently owns a 100% interest of an advanced mining exploration property in California, USA as well as holding a portfolio of exploration stage projects in Ontario, Canada and Nevada, USA.

In 2019, the Company designed two drill programs at both Moonlight and Engels part of the Moonlight-Superior property to define higher grade starter pits that will improve the economics in our recent Moonlight Preliminary Economic Assessment (PEA). The Company plans to focus all its exploration and development activities and advancements on its Moonlight-Superior property in California.

The Company will also, if conditions are favourable, seek to raise additional funds through a private or public offering of securities or debt as required.

The Company's prospects are tied to the global demand for Copper and the availability of financing to fund ongoing operations. The recent global pandemic has had a negative impact on both the availability of financing and the current price of Copper.

The objectives of the Company is to advance the Moonlight-Superior property in California to the production stage.

OVERALL PERFORMANCE

The Company does not currently have a producing property. Recovery of the cost of mining assets is subject to the discovery of economically recoverable reserves, the ability to obtain the financing required to pursue the exploration and development of its properties, and profitable future production or the proceeds from the sale of its properties. The Company must periodically obtain new funds in order to pursue its activities. While it has always succeeded in doing so to date, it is not possible to predict whether financing efforts will be successful and management cannot provide assurance that it will be able to obtain the required financing.

The net loss and comprehensive loss for the nine month period ended September 30, 2020 was $324,324 ($0.01 per share) as compared to $303,335 ($0.01 per share) for the nine month period ended September 30, 2019. The Company's operations are consistent with the prior year period, except for the following:

Decrease in exploration and evaluation expenditures to $127,048 compared to $155,249 in 2019 as a result of lower annual mining tax payments due to the Company dropping 75 unpatented mining claims that were viewed as unnecessary.

Increase in share based compensation expense to $73,000 compared to $25,200 in 2019. Stock-based compensation expenses are booked based on the valuation of options using the Black-Scholes model. The expense varies based on the number of options issued and the underlying assumptions used in the model.

Increase in promotion and travel costs to $49,126 compared to $28,968 in 2019 as a result of increased investor relations to heavily marketed itself to investors and potential investors in an effort to complete its proposed financing in October 2020. These costs are expected to increase in the coming quarter.
